

00:18:05 Nina Aamodt: Yes

00:19:39 Carolyn/SPUR Public Programs: Welcome to the SPUR program! Thank you so much for joining us for this Digital Discourse today.

00:19:47 Carolyn/SPUR Public Programs: Learn more about sponsorship opportunities and benefits for Ideas + Action here: <https://www.spur.org/events/ideas-action-2023#tab-sponsorship>. To register for the free live stream of the Keynote sign-up here: <https://spur.secure.nonprofitsoapbox.com/ia23livestream>

00:22:06 Cindy Zerger: I really love that framing

00:23:26 Tess Dornfeld: Equity is more than baseball graphic 🤗❤️

00:25:27 Silas Amaral: Thanks for addressing the effects of impostor syndrome over minority professionals! This is such a big deal!

00:25:49 Alaina Bompiedi: You have a very good presentation skill.

00:26:56 christie holland: relatable-- losing a grandparent to a traffic accident before I was even a thought

00:29:00 Carolyn/SPUR Public Programs: Have a question about what's been discussed so far? Make sure to submit it through the Q&A panel and we'll get to it towards the end of the session!

00:34:29 Beverly Greene: The story of our communities...

00:40:44 Beverly Greene: Amen

00:41:00 Tess Dornfeld: Change is scary! And not just for the usual culprits either.

00:41:09 Arto Keklikian: NIMBY

00:41:16 Amber Raley: BANANAS: Build Absolutely Nothing Anywhere Near Anything

00:42:05 Betsy Loring: And yet - no one envisions a future city choked with cars, devoid of green.

00:42:35 Tess Dornfeld: also CAVE dwellers - Citizens Against Virtually Anything

00:43:29 Arto Keklikian: How is stakeholder input being effective in decision making? What segment has the real influential power?

00:44:05 Carolyn/SPUR Public Programs: We'll be transitioning to the audience Q&A portion soon - submit any questions you have through the Q&A tab!

00:44:20 Matthew Woodward: Absolutely

00:46:56 Carolyn/SPUR Public Programs: Hi Arto, please submit your questions through the Q&A tab, thank you!

00:48:13 christie holland: "decenter yourself" 💡

00:48:41 Amanda Lewis: Yes reading!

00:50:05 Tess Dornfeld: ALEC is still around!

00:50:48 Alex Shoor: B000000! Road diets are often awesome!

00:51:13 Tess Dornfeld: People are also way out there about 15-minute cities, in Europe too

00:51:33 Arto Keklikian: We need to stop building so more will not come.

00:51:38 Tess Dornfeld: Screenshotted that quote!
00:51:59 christie holland: yes to Napoleon Hill
00:53:32 Beverly Greene: You're looking very Delta today.
Violets to Veronica!
00:58:20 Kim E. Walton: So very, very glad that you've woven your lived experiences with work and encouraging people to speak with people in their communities about their lived experiences before starting any thing in their "hoods".
01:04:21 Carmen Bendixen: Same! I was in my 20s when I found out what planning as a profession was 01:04:39 christie holland: i didn't find out until grad school.
01:05:20 Alaina Bompiedi: I also got to know about urban planning when I started my undergrad on this.
01:06:29 Arto Keklikian: I was inspired to start and follow a career in planning during by engineering undergrad studies.
01:11:46 Emily Culling: thank you!!
01:12:04 Arto Keklikian: Thank you Veronica for the excellent and informative presentation!! Looking forward to reading the book.
01:13:15 Carolyn/SPUR Public Programs: Thank you for joining us! We look forward to seeing you at the next SPUR program!
01:13:20 casey lauderdale: Thank you!
01:13:33 Betsy Loring: Thanks so much - I'm enjoying the book!
01:13:36 christie holland: inspiring
01:13:45 christie holland: thank youi
01:13:51 Kim E. Walton: Outstanding!!!!
01:13:52 fran taro: great time listening to you
01:13:56 Carmen Bendixen: Thanks!!!