

Resources on Privately Owned Public Open Spaces

San Francisco

An interactive map of the city's Privately Owned Public Open Spaces – and public art – is at popos.sfplanning.org. The page also includes information on signage, design standards and enforcement.

A printable map is at <http://bit.ly/WKzDJ9>

The Transit Center District Plan, a sizable file, is at bit.ly/X77Va2. The information on the district standards for POPOS is on page 60.

The 1985 guidelines for downtown open space is at www.sf-planning.org/ftp/general\_plan/images/downtown/TABLE1.HTM

The SPUR guide to POPOS, including a description and critique of each space, is at www.spur.org/files/popos-guide.pdf

John King's 2012 package on issues surrounding POPOS and their accessibility is at <http://bit.ly/10tqyg3> and <http://bit.ly/ZNToln>

New York

Information on New York City's Privately Owned Public Spaces – including design guidelines and a detailed map – is at <http://www.nyc.gov/html/dcp/html/pops/pops.shtml>

The website of the group Friends of Privately Owned Public Space is at <http://f-pops.org/>

The website of Thomas Balsley Associates, including information on several privately owned plazas, is at <http://www.tbany.com/>

Books:

Everyday Urbanism: Expanded Edition, edited by John Chase, Margaret Crawford and John Kaliski (Monicelli Press, 2008)

Privately Owned Public Space: The New York City Experience, by Jerold Kayden, (Wiley, 2000)

The Social Life of Small Urban Spaces, by William H. Whyte (Project for Public Spaces, 2001)

